TOGETHER, UNITED, WE CAN ACCOMPLISH MORE THAN ANY OF US CAN ALONE.

United Way of the Columbia-Willamette is advancing the common good and creating a better life for all. Our focus is on education, income and health – the building blocks for a good quality life. One person or organization can’t solve our community’s tough issues alone. That’s why United Way recruits people and organizations that bring the passion, expertise and resources to get the job done. Our goal is to create lasting changes that will help children gain the skills to succeed in school and life, help families and individuals become financially stable and independent, and help people achieve physical, mental and emotional health and well-being.

At United Way, we work side-by-side with individuals, nonprofits, government, businesses and other community partners to change systems so that individuals have the support they need to succeed. This past year we worked with more than 150 collaborating partners providing services through 37 projects and six strategic initiatives. Together, we are helping more than 100,000 people each year who live in Clackamas, Multnomah, Washington and Clark counties and are working to address the root-causes of our community’s most pressing issues.

Measurable Results
One of the most significant accomplishments for the year was the release of the Community Impact Fund Report showing results of strategic investments between 2004-2009. Each year since 2004, United Way’s Community Impact Fund has touched the lives of 100,000 people with vital programs supporting the growth of the building blocks for a good quality life: education, income and health.

In this same time period, United Way was able to leverage government, foundation grants, collaborators and other sources to make each dollar entrusted to us into $1.83 for programs in your community. As a result, on top of the $22.5 million raised by United Way, an additional $18.8 million was added to create a $41.3 million impact for the community.

“United Way of the Columbia-Willamette is an exceptional organization due to its ability to listen to multiple voices in our diverse community. They have the ability to see the intersections in disparities. United Way understands that often what seems to be a simple social disparity can in fact be part of a set of complex, interconnected systems. You can’t talk about the causes of the recession without talking about education. You can’t talk about the educational achievement gap without talking about the general health of the broader community. United Way is making those connections and making a commitment with those connections and making a commitment with their significant contributions. Their investments leverage real change in the places that need it most.”

– CHARLES MCGEE, PRESIDENT/CEO, THE BLACK PARENT INITIATIVE

“Intel is a data driven business. Intel employees work hard to make sure that the decisions they make are supported by thorough analysis and are focused on results. This is one of the reasons why we have built such a strong, collaborative partnership with United Way of the Columbia-Willamette. They have made a conscious choice to use data to focus the investments they make to improve people’s lives, and their investment strategy is transparent.”

– JILL EILAND, CORPORATE AFFAIRS MANAGER, INTEL CORP.

“We cannot over-emphasize the importance of this Innovation Grant from United Way. It enables us to support youth led activities, to have a true system impact, and to convene a high profile Community Forum. These activities drew the attention of a designated donor with the Oregon Community Foundation. Funding is now secure for two years at $100,000 per year. This will enable us to expand youth leadership and deepen community involvement and commitment. Thank you!”

– MARC LEJEUNE, PROGRAM MANAGER, OUTSIDE IN

“As a Foundation, we strive to ensure that our grants are providing the maximum benefit to agencies we support…United Way is uniquely positioned to feel the pulse of the economic and social stress in the community…Raising money is important. But how that money is distributed is equally important. That is what makes United Way so valuable to our community.”

– AL JUBITZ, FOUNDING DIRECTOR, JUBITZ FAMILY FOUNDATION

This past year Pacific Northwest Combined Federal Campaign, administered by United Way of the Columbia-Willamette raised $1,691,755 million dollars. A very special thank you to the more than 5,700 Federal employees working in 359 offices in 33 counties in Oregon and SW Washington who donated through the campaign. United Way supports all phases of the campaign including volunteer training, distributing campaign materials, and processing of donations.

Community Issues Breakfast and Forum
United Way and Northwest Health Foundation co-hosted a Community Issues Breakfast and forum featuring Dr. Adewale Troutman, a nationally recognized expert on social determinants of health. His talk focused on how jobs, working conditions, education, housing, social inclusion, race, and even political power influence the health of individuals and our communities. The event drew almost 500 business, nonprofit, and community leaders and was followed by a day-long forum. Close to 120 people participated in the forum that explored specific issues and solutions for the region using the health equity and social determinants of health framework.

Community Giving Campaign
A special thank you to the almost 1,000 companies, 2,000 volunteers and more than 30,000 donors who supported this year’s United Way Campaign and raised $20,103,668 to advance the common good in our community. This incredible display of generosity represents a 2.2% increase from the prior year. Most importantly, these funds are used to drive critical work in the areas of education, income and health. The annual giving campaign was led by Kristin Lewis with Wells Fargo, Tom Elmer with KeyBank, Rick Paul with Far West Fibers, Mike Alexander with the Regence Group, and Dennis Carmull with Costo.

Community Relief Fund
The Community Relief Fund (CRF) was initiated in spring of 2009 in collaboration with The Oregon Food Bank and Community Action Programs in all four counties to address the growing needs of families hit hardest by the recession. CRF was specifically designed to provide food, rent and utility assistance. By the end of FY10, the program had distributed $1.45 million in assistance to help financially stabilize 14,717 households representing 44,773 families.
